SAN JUAN MEDICAL FOUNDATION

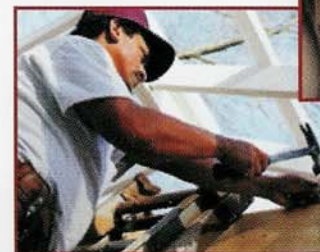

RILEY INDUSTRIAL MEN'S HEALTH FUND

The Riley Industrial Men's Health Fund was established in 2004 by Riley Industrial Services, Inc., of Farmington, New Mexico to assist low-income men of San Juan County to receive needed medical care. After assessing community needs, Riley Industrial Services chose men's health as the focus of their fund. This fund is based on SJMF's successful women's health fund, the Cathy Lincoln Memorial Cancer Fund.

Major sources of funding include the annual Riley Industrial Men's Health Fund Charity Golf Classic and private donations. A panel reviews requests using financial need and medical necessity as its funding guidelines.

The Riley Industrial Men's Health Fund is administered through the San Juan Medical Foundation—a community-based, independent, non-profit organization committed to enhancing health care in the Four Corners region in cooperation with San Juan Regional Medical Center. Donations to the San Juan Medical Foundation are tax deductible to the extent of the law.
